Minister blasted over EU 'red tape' promise

By George Walsh

AN MEP has accused the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs of duplicating an internal red tape promise after the Government withdrew its plan to limit farming plans.

Speaking at the Oxford Farming Conference on Wednesday last week, Andrea Leadsom said she was delighted to encourage that British farmers had seen to support workers after Brexit left the EU.

But Keith Taylor MEP, who represents the south east, led out at Mrs Leadsom's attack on EU safeguards as "red tape" that stifled the UK.

Mrs Leadsom, Conservative MEP for South West Hampshire, said the Government would ensure the food and farming sectors had the labour they needed but the details had not been settled yet.

She said: "Leaving the EU means we are less as who works best for the United Kingdom."

"By cutting the red tape that comes out of Brussels, we will free our farmers to grow more, sell more and export more great British food without updating our high standards for plant and animal health and welfare. My priority will be to ensure some rules that work for the United Kingdom."

She said she knew that "important

£50m confirmed for A34 upgrades to better safety

By Adam Pinn

£50m in additional funding to make improvements to the A34 has been confirmed by the chief officer of the contractor Philip Hammond, it was revealed last week.

In a letter sent to Newbury MP Richard Dring and Oxford MP Sir John Gummer and Oxford City Council, Mr Hammond outlined the funds as part of the Government's road investment strategy 2010-2015.

Technology enhancements including the installation of vehicle detection loops which monitor vehicles passing our two points CCTV cameras and driver information systems on the A34 between the M4 and the M40 have been allocated up to £25m.

Another £25m has been put aside to make improvements to the features and policy environment in Oxford.

The money was first announced for the road in 2014, but Mr Dring said that this has now been brought forward, with the following money available.

He said: "We're all delighted that it is going to make a big difference to safety on the road."

"The funding was critical to us but the £50m and there was a programme to have it delivered by 2016 but my understanding was that has been brought forward, so it's not due to say it is an enhancement of the money."

"The Department for Transport and Highways England are working very hard to get a programme for delivery to us, and that is the next phase of our activities. It makes sense to get the funding as quickly as possible."

"Some of that very easy bits, and my feeling is some elements of this money could be spent in the next year or 18 months."

In his letter, Mr Hammond wrote that Highways England is currently analysing both whether there are any more accidents, although no more were given for when work could start.

The letter continued: "Transport the experience of what has happened in these projects and there is a need to get to grips with the Department for Transport. There are some serious delays to the process."

MP for Abingdon and Oxford West Nicola Blackwood said: "It's a real pity that the funding is not being delivered as quickly as it should be."

"Technology can make all the difference in getting the right mix of safety measures. It's not just about the money, it's about the way it's used."

The funds for safety upgrades are expected to be delivered by 2016. The A34 is a major road in Oxfordshire, and the A34 Oxford bypass is set up in the aftermath of the crash which killed four people and made it the most serious in the region.

A debate in parliament in October led to the creation of the A34 Safety Review, which is now a public inquiry into the crash.

Mr Blackwood said: "We are now in a position to make sure that the funding is delivered as quickly as possible, and that the road is safe for all who use it."

Tribute paid to soldier as county holds repatriation

By Eva Atkinson

THE repatriation of 80-year-old soldier Lord Bingham, who died in Iraq, was the focus of a ceremony today in Oxfordshire.

Lance Corporal Bingham, of 2nd Battalion, The Duke of Lancaster's Regiment, died on Monday January 9 following an accident at Camp Taji, north of Baghdad.

The soldier was a member of Bingham Company and a radio commander in the 3rd Platoon, Production Platoon.

The Ministry of Defence confirmed his death on Thursday January 9.

He leaves a girlfriend and a baby daughter.

Lieutenant Colonel Ian Stirling, Commanding Officer, 2nd Battalion, The Duke of Lancaster's Regiment, said: "Lance Corporal Lord Bingham was a superb soldier and a first class leader. A truly professional and vibrant, he was full of character, fun, and his enthusiasm was contagious."

"The battalion has lost a huge talent and a real character. He will be missed dearly and we will never forget him."

"His heart is present in his parents' belongings, his girlfriend and his young daughter. They are in all of our thoughts."

Lance Corporal John, Private Protection Platoon, Bingham Company, 2nd Battalion, The Duke of Lancaster's Regiment, said: "Bingham was a legend. You could always count on him to be a laugh, and he always had an answer for everything."

"He was a big character. He would be greatly missing the whole battalion."

An investigation into the circumstances of his death is under way.

The repatriation will see a large crowd from RAF Base Halton to the John Radcliffe Hospital in Oxford where a post-mortem exam will take place.

Defence Secretary Liam Fox said the tragedy was approach to pass the memorial garden between 2010 and 2012 and reach the hospital between 2010 and 2012.

According to figures published in 2010, the UK lost 170 soldiers in Afghanistan in the first seven months of the Iraq war.

The British military mission in Iraq was set up in April 2003. It was the first time a British soldier has been killed in Iraq since the war started in 2003.

Has Your Double Glazing Steamed Up?

Double glazing is a fantastic way to keep your home warm and energy efficient. But if you're experiencing condensation on the inside of your double glazed windows, it could be a sign that your glazing is failing. This is often caused by a problem with the gas fill or the sealant. If you're experiencing this, it's important to get it fixed as soon as possible. Otherwise, you could be wasting a lot of money on heating bills. The good news is that there are a number of ways to fix this problem. One option is to have the gas refilled. Another option is to have the sealant replaced. Both of these options can be done by a professional glazing company. If you're not sure what to do, it's best to call a professional. They will be able to inspect your windows and advise you on the best course of action.

Harwell celebrates 70 years

King George VI and Queen Elizabeth II visited Harwell in 1953. Picture: Nuclear Decommissioning Authority

By Iain Astor

THE Harwell nuclear site is celebrating its 70th year serving as an atomic and nuclear power establishment.

In 1942, at Harwell was one of the first nuclear sites in the world. The first nuclear reactor in the world was developed at Harwell.

Today the Harwell site is focused on decommissioning the three existing nuclear reactors. The UK's centre for research and development of new nuclear power.

During the past 70 years, research has included Sir Winston Churchill, Margaret Thatcher and the Mayor of the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

By the late 1970s decommissioning of the nuclear research and development changed drastically and the site adapted to new nuclear and commercial research.

Today the Harwell site is focused on decommissioning the three existing nuclear reactors.

Gary Field, Harwell site manager, says: "After 70 years at Harwell for a number of years it is exciting to see the significant changes over the decades.

"What hasn't changed in the continuing focus on world-class science and innovation, the focus now being on the development of the site and restoration of the land."

The site which is owned and managed by the Nuclear Decommissioning Authority, will be undergoing more development in the coming years.

David Eddowes, the Nuclear Decommissioning Authority's chief executive, said: "The site which is owned and managed by the Nuclear Decommissioning Authority, will be undergoing more development in the coming years."

seeking an early decommissioning Harwell site with over 100 buildings and facilities now owned.

"We are working closely with the Nuclear Decommissioning Authority to ensure that in less than 30 years time the entire Harwell site will be decommissioned, with all buildings and facilities decommissioned and demolished."

In recent years the Diamond Light Source project and the design building have become a legacy of Harwell.

Work at the facility started in 2001 and is scheduled to be completed in 2014.

The Queen visited the site in 1953 and just three years earlier Winston Churchill had toured the facility.

What has changed at Harwell is the continued focus on world-class science and innovation. Gary Field, Harwell site manager, says: "After 70 years at Harwell for a number of years it is exciting to see the significant changes over the decades."

Multi-million pavilion set for finish date in summer

By Samantha McGregor

WORK on a multi-million pound sports pavilion in Stone is well under way and is set to finish this year.

The building will be used by sportsmen and women using pitches on Whitecloud Farm Sports Village, on the Kingsmead estate, where a school club is already based for cycling and running, and outdoor fitness equipment, are already available to the public.

The pavilion will include changing facilities, a bar, a licensed bar, a kitchen and a function room, as well as 22 parking spaces, ten of which will be for disabled drivers.

Chertsey District Council appointed contractors J. Buchanan Ltd to undertake the £2.2m design-and-build project, which is scheduled for completion in summer 2013. Construction started next at the site in November.

Cllr George Reynolds, who will be deputising, said: "The multi-million pavilion is set to create an inspiring and modern environment to encourage and encourage new traders and public use of the sports village."

"It will be a flexible facility, as well as the traditional sports applications, people will be able to use it as a drink and shared events in the future too."

The pavilion will be the first of its kind in the project's range of facilities.

The sports village will occupy a site of over 15 hectares, provided by Kingsmead development consultants.

The sports complex will include a multi-million pound sports hall, tennis courts and a food and kitchen pitch.

In addition to the existing and proposed pitches, the great sports children are being prepared for use in the 2012 to 2016 season.

Andrew Cunningham, director, Cunningham Properties (Events) Ltd, said: "The new sports village at Kingsmead, including the pavilion, is a significant sports facility that will benefit both current and future Kingsmead residents and the wider community as a whole."

"Ideally three full assembly pitches, three gender-specific pitches and a cricket pitch have been constructed, ready for use in the spring."

Martin Gallagher, managing director, construction for J. Buchanan, said: "The sports pavilion at Kingsmead will be a key building for the local community, providing a purpose-built sports pavilion with changing facilities, function room and bar facilities, and as such is due to provide an important hub for residents."

Politicians given a scolding by Mary Poppins

Greenpeace calls on UK to clean up air pollution with a little help from nanny

Mary Poppins floats along St Andrew's, Oxford, as Greenpeace urges the government to take action on diesel vehicle emissions

By George Walsh

ACTING CEO of childless charity Mary Poppins was seen in Oxford last week as a national environmental campaign group rolled out its pollution levels beyond the nursery (see Friday in the UK) for 101's anniversary. The charity's first day after the year's children's charity Mary Poppins was started. The group is based in Oxford as a pollution unit.

The campaign unit was part of Greenpeace's campaign to get the government to clean up the UK's air to protect the largest children. The campaign group is urging Government to end the national diesel cars, most of which, they claim, pump out between two to 15 times the legal limits and pose manufacturers to rapidly shift to hybrid and electric vehicles.

Under EU rules, any single local area in the UK is only allowed to have a yearly limit of 250 micrograms of NO<sub>2</sub> per cubic metre of air 10 times a year.

But last on Thursday evening last week, the limit in London broke that limit for the 10th time. That limit means the UK has already exceeded 2011's annual air pollution limit for five days this year - last year it took three.

John Spence, an Oxfordshire Greenpeace activist, said: "It is shocking that it is taking only five days to break the 2011 annual limit of air pollution."

"Despite greenpeace's best efforts, the government has done almost nothing to tackle car companies since they were caught cheating emissions limits."

"We urgently need to stop the sale of new diesel models until emissions testing is truly fit for purpose."

"Thank you, we need our own policies to phase out diesel completely."

The group's advertisement campaign claims that many health professionals have, over the last few months, spoken out about the impact of air pollution on human health, especially children's health.

It says that diesel exhaust can cause detrimental impacts, including asthma and can stunt children's lung growth permanently by up to 10 per cent. Air pollution is also linked to strokes, heart disease and diabetes in older people. In November 2010, the High Court ruled for the second time in six months that the Government is not doing enough to combat the air pollution crisis.

New plan to help prevent diabetes

PROFUSION of risk of Type 2 diabetes will be offered education and lifestyle coaching after a successful pilot by health agencies in Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire. NHS England has selected cases to take part in the scheme, known as the NHS Diabetes Prevention Programme.

From April, Type 2 diabetes advisors at the county will be offered individual support after the county's Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) had a pilot last year in the programme.

Dr Alan Tait, clinical lead for long-term conditions for Oxfordshire CCG, said: "This is a really exciting opportunity for us to take the leading long-term health condition."

"From now on, the best approach will be to help patients to reduce their risk of diabetes by taking steps to change their lifestyle."

Buckinghamshire and Oxfordshire are one of 11 areas nationwide selected to take part in the programme.

It will support the 100 people a year across the county by 2015. The programme will be rolled out to other areas.

In the UK, about 2.5 million people have the condition and by 2015 it is predicted that will increase to five million, at an estimated cost of £10 bn to the NHS.

Meanwhile, an Oxford University study suggests that an NHS programme for screening those at high risk of the condition is unlikely to have much impact.

The scheme and most policy to prevent Type 2 diabetes, in which people are classified as "high risk" and offered individual intervention, will target those people at high risk of the condition. The study involved

Apprenticeships Training, qualifications and a salary

Apprenticeships are not what you think...

Did you know that an apprentice can be any age, not just a school leaver, and that opportunities go beyond just practical trades? We still train plumbers and hairdressers, but in 2016 an apprentice is more likely to be studying marketing, digital and social media, accountancy or management than landscape or motor vehicle maintenance.

Why choose an Apprenticeship?

There are no costs for apprenticeship training for the apprentice. So that's no student loan, no debt and a fantastic qualification to help you to progress at work! We're not pretending that it won't be hard work, but with support from your employer, the College, and commitment from you, apprenticeships are a no cost solution to kick-starting that amazing career you have always dreamed of.

Volunteers sought as snow wardens

By Samantha McGregor

AS a snow gets closer to place to keep Banbury moving in severe winter weather a call has gone out for volunteers.

Banbury Town Council is looking for volunteers and businesses to keep roads where they live and work free of snow and ice.

The town is part of plans to extend a snow warden scheme which has been running since 2010.

The neighbourhood scheme "Banbury Snow Warden" is currently made up of 200 volunteers and businesses to keep roads where they live and work free of snow and ice.

Businesses in the town could get involved by getting volunteers to clear their roads and driveways.

Places that are already in place but do not have a warden could also be added to the scheme.

But the town is not already been a problem - and more volunteers are needed to be added.

Cliff Kinnear, leader of the town council, said: "Snow wardens are volunteer members of the community."

"They keep roads, pavements and footpaths clear for everyone throughout the winter, particularly elderly and vulnerable residents who cannot help themselves."

"Wardens help keep the town moving at times when snow and ice could make it difficult to get to work, school and shops."

"Businesses can do their bit by getting outside their places of work."

He added: "Councils do their best to keep roads and pavements safe but most people make their own decisions everywhere and it is not on the road and pavements are always busy."

"The school is a great way of getting the community working together during half-term."

The council supplies everything the volunteers need - and also provides training for the role.

The project has been set up by the town council in partnership with Oxfordshire County Council and Banbury District Council and is based on similar schemes already in place in many towns and villages across the county.

Cliff Kinnear added: "The scheme is a great and useful way to get the community working together for the common good."

For more information, contact Banbury Town Council at its office in Bridge Street or call 01235 330040.

Crews tackle chimney fire

FIREFIGHTERS had to remove a chimney stack as a house near Thame after a fire broke out outside. The house on Victoria Road was still locked out for Christmas when Banbury came knocking out of the top of the chimney.

Oxfordshire County Council's Fire and Rescue Service were alerted at 10.30pm on Monday night after a fire broke out at the house and the fire was seen to be coming from the chimney.

Incident commander, station manager and Banbury fire engine plus a Banbury fire engine were sent regularly.

He said: "Oxfordshire County Council Fire and Rescue Service responded to a report of a chimney fire at a house near Thame, where a fire was seen to be coming from the chimney."

"Substantial damage to the chimney was caused when a fire broke out and the fire was seen to be coming from the chimney."

Warner Leisure: Cricket St Thomas

06/03/17

5 Days: £389

We know that a break away from the hustle and bustle of everyday life is important, and Warners are here to help you make the most of it! The Cricket St Thomas Hotel has a stunning location, quality entertainment, and extensive leisure facilities to help you have fun, relax and indulge!

Cosy Breaks in the English Riviera: Poignton

10/03/17 £229

24/03/17 £235

4 Days

For both dates we will be staying at the delightful 3 star Palace Hotel based in Poignton. This hotel has fantastic unspoilt views across Torbay and has great leisure facilities!

Exmouth & Devon Coastal Towns

23/03/17

5 Days: £309

Exmouth commands a wonderful position where the River Exe joins the sea. Devon's oldest seaside resort, it is renowned for its red cliffs and has a long, level promenade with fine views to the sea and along the lovely coastline!

Rhine & Dine: Boppard

5 Days: £459

Boppard with a guided walk, 2 cooking demonstrations and wine tasting! Boppard is a Roman town with an excellent promenade and panoramic views of the river and on our day in the resort we have a guided walk to see the best of it! Our Elegant 4 star Best Western Bellevue Rhine hotel is situated on the main riverside promenade, only a stone's throw from the centre of town and the hotel provides us with a regional dinner on our final evening.

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9x9 grid with digits so that each column, each row and each of the nine 3x3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions" or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

Caremark offers a specialised care service for people who need support with day-to-day life but want to stay in their own home. Caremark's live-in care service enables you to remain as independent as possible, whilst being fully supported by a full time live-in Care Worker.

Care at home

You will have choice and control over your life. You can live in familiar surroundings with family, friends, your own possessions, furniture and pets too!

We will agree a personal support plan with you, detailing what kind of care and support you need, including your preferences. You'll enjoy one-to-one support from a fully trained Care Worker. You'll be able to relax, knowing that there is someone there for you seven days a week, to help with your housework, personal care and shopping or simply to provide good company.

Your satisfaction and happiness are vital to us

We will match your Care Workers to your needs. We will regularly monitor and review your satisfaction to make sure you always receive the highest standard of care.

First taste of defeat for Jones at City

By George Walsh

OXFORD City's winning run under caretaker boss Mark Jones came to an end as a 3-0 defeat at Brent City on Saturday.

The Hogs had won all three matches under the stewardship of Jones, whose previous boss Justin Merril's assistant assistant, but his side were 2-0 down in 10 minutes.

City, who have lost Robbie Brady and James Roberts, who the manager returned to Oxford United following the end of their loan spells, came off early as a Ryan Kent and Andrew Hall find the leads in an early half.

Facing an uphill battle, City had limited choices in the first period and found home goal keeper Martin Bates equal to the challenge.

And things were kept worse for Oxford when Thompson lost their lead further shortly after the restart.

Presumably on their loss and a previous goal from their head coach, head coach Dean Smith's own team from the penalty spot, 2-0.

City did not look back in the hour through an important triple substitution.

The side played a rapid response when Shaun Harey scored his first goal for the club as he tucked away before substitute Mike Phillips came from the dugout.

And with the clock ticking down, Phillips headed home third substitute Mark Bradbury's cross to reduce the arrears to 1-3.

But it was too little too late for the Hogs, leaving Jones a bitter defeat.

It was a "very poor start" for his first defeat, he added. "We dominated possession but I don't think we really did enough with it."

"The performance was limited with mistakes throughout the 90 minutes which was very frustrating and we quite often made unforced errors," he said.

"Overall we made too many mistakes, too many unforced errors and we had too many players who didn't really play to the levels they are capable of. That made it very difficult for us."

It's disappointing.

The defeat saw City drop into place to 14th, but respectable results elsewhere in the league mean that the Hogs are still in the play-off zone of the drop zone.

City had themselves in the mid-table area, with a trip to League Island for a National League South fixture against Colchester United.

Injury time strike saves a point

By George Walsh

A DEANWICK injury time strike means the Hogs have secured a point in a game in which they lost a goal.

Kent, who had scored the first goal, was injured in the 80th minute and had to be replaced by a player who had not been named in the starting line-up.

Early in the second half, the Hogs were 2-1 down after a goal by a player who had not been named in the starting line-up.

The Hogs' captain, who had scored the first goal, was injured in the 80th minute and had to be replaced by a player who had not been named in the starting line-up.
